May Come to Asheville.

At a meeting recently held in the interestablished, and very probably at Atlanta or Asheville, and that it will be to the Southern Presbyterian church what Vanderbilt University is to the Methodist

SERVICES IN THE PRESBY-TERIAN CHURCH.

THE DECORATIONS AND THE NEW ORGAN.

Sermon Sultable to the Occasion by the Reverend W. S. P. Bryan.

Services were held in the Presbyterian hurch yesterday morning for the first ime since the repairs were begun. The new organ has been put up and the inte rior of the church handsomely frescoed. The general ground work of the decorations is of buff and the side walls are of terracotta. On the walls there is a bordering of bands of peacock blue, olive and gilt. The curved portion between the ceiling and side walls is in graduated tones of peacock blue, and the mouldings around the windows are very light buff. on either side of the pulpit are panels of leeper terracotta, with Fleur-de-Lis designs in gold. The general effect is modest and unassuming, but is very pretty.

The organ, a description of which has dready appeared, was played by Mr. F. L. Jacobs, and has a softness of tone that is exquisite. The congregation was delighted with the instrument. Rev. W. S. P. Bryan, the pastor, preached to a large gathering, from the text: "Now therefore ve are no more strangers and foreigners but fellow-citizens with the saints, and of the household of God: and are built apon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the thief corner stone; In whom all the building fitly framed together groweth into an holy temple in the Lord: In whom ve also are builded together for an habitation of God through the Spirit.' Ephesians 2: 19-22.

"These words," said the speaker, "are a estimony to the practical power of the divine grace. The whole chapter is an exposition of grace, and the keystone perhaps is contained in the 8th verse: 'For by grace are ye saved through faith." One of the effects is the naturalization that took place concerning the Ephesians. By birth, they were strangers to lod. They were heathen idolaters, and were barred from the house of God. This lasted 1800 years, excluding the Ephesians and others, but now we are made me. "Ye are no longer strangers and foreigners." You are admitted to the unermost places of God.

A wonderful temple was in process of crection then, and it is worthy of our study this morning, as we return to ours to-day, after a short absence. Not because the two are alike, but on the con trary because they are unlike, and there is such a contrast. The plans of that temple was detailed before the foundation of the world, and it was being built after the plans that needed no correction or alteration. The material was not as the material of this day, stone, brick and wood, and the erection was not attended by the noise of the hammer and saw. The material was not dead clay, but it was the living souls of men, and it was the living temple of God. The temple was also unlike this one, in that it was proof against decay. All householders know that decay begins immediately, and that repair constitutes a distinct element of expense in a house hold.

This temple is subject to no such pro cille is being painted on the window of us this morning to study the truth apostles and that Jesus Christ is the corner stone. Let us understand distinctly what is meant when it is said Jesus Christ the prophets and the apostles are the foundation. It means that the foundation is not ancient myths nor the result of human minds, but the prophets and apostles such as Paul and Moses and others. Their historical abilities are excellently proved.

If classic history had been subjected to such a criticism as these have had to undergo, the writings of such great men as Livy and Cicero would have been east tion, but their works were written under the guidance of the holy spirit. Jesus Christ is a distinct test of religion. We which appears at Opera Hall for three have numerous bodies calling themselves religious and Christians, but what is a Christian church? It is one having Christ as its foundation, and any other is not a church of Christ. The church that makes so much of form and ceremony, and where Jesus Christ is not known except in a sort of idolatry, is not the kind spoken of here. So with regard to our personal religion, the same thing holds true. We may revere Christ and put him in the solitary cell. This and yet not consider him the corner stone. We build up our own religions discharged. Martin McKnight, a colored and Christian works, and instead of having him as a foundation, think he will make a good ornament and put him in the highest place, where he serves as a cap

A house that is built that way is on a sandy foundation, and will fall. Jesus must be the corner stone. The corner stone being laid, your own works will follow and without that it will fall to pieces. But the corner stone is not the whole building. There must be walls, Jesus Christ is not the whole building of faith, but is merely the corner stone, and you and I are stones in the walls. The second truth for us to notice is this: Though composed of many stones, it is but one building, or reversed, though est of the South Atlantic Presbyterian but one building it is composed of many University, Rev. Dr. John S. Wadkins, of stones. It is not a mere mass of brick Raleigh, was a delegate from the North and stones, but put together in the build-Carolina Presbyterian synod. He has ing and is fitly arranged together. Each returned and says the University will be stone has a place and fills it. Notice too. concerning the different parts. They all have different places and no two are alike. It is so with Christians. They are not alike, and each one has a different place to fill.

The third truth is this: Though they are many and different parts, and all are necessary, they are not all seen. Far up not see, but each has its own special work to perform. It may be that you and I are like these mils, and pass through the world unknown to all except the Divine architect.

The fourth truth is the building itself. The temple has a distinct purpose. We would regard it as an indignity it it were would regard it as an indignity if it were proposed to use this house as a market house, an opera hall or a residence. It is opened for a few hours during the week and the rest of the time is kept sacred. Thus it is with you. It is intended that the temple, of which you are a part, shall the temple, of which you are a part, shall be kept sacred as a dwelling place of God. If it is descerated God withdraws. Let us see to it that we are not tainted, and that we hold our human relations all subject to our divine relations.

That temple is not complete yet. It has been building for 6,000 years and will keep on for ages and ages. The mestion is, what part of it are we Are we living stones? It may be that we are and it may be that we are not but are of no shape to be used and are uscless to ourselves and anyone else. Friend, if it is that way with you, will useless, take the place that God has pre-pared for you in the divine temple. Let are an unexcelled specific for rheumatism, gout, sciatica, nervous exhaustion and all diseases of skin and blood. us submit to the chiscling, hard though it may be, and become a part of the tem- te ole forever and forever.

HENDERSONVILLE NEWS.

The Location for the New Foun tain Selected.

HENDERSONVILLE, May 10. Editor Citizen:—According to previous totice, the citizens of the town assembled in the court house at 3 p. m. to-day. The assembly was called to order by his hon-or Mayor Victor Hyman. On motion, Dr. R. H. Lewis was elected chairman and M. W. Egerton, Esq., secretary,
The object of the meeting was explained y Mayor Hyman to be the location of he public fountain.

A motion was made by Thos. J. Rickman, Esq., that the fountain be located in the centre of Main street opposite the court house. It was discussed thoroughly, by Messrs, W. A. Smith, T. J. Rickman, J. Williams, C. M. Pace, P. E. Braswell, S. V. Pickens, T. C. Israel, Dr. Alwen, S. V. Poscais, C. Israel, Dr. Allen and Jos. Merrimon.

Mr. B. F. Poscy said he voiced the opinion of the county commissioners when he said that they gave their free consent to the use of the north end of the court house square for the fountain. A motion was made to postpone action

A motion was made to postpone action for one week. Lost.

On the eall for question, it was carried. So we are to have a fountain in front of our court house.

On motion of S. V. Pickens, Esq., a committee of three, Messrs, T. C. Israel, R. I. Barnwell and P. E. Braswell, were appointed to locate the fountain. The on stepping into the Alpine House to-day, we find still further improvements. The indies' patlor we found elegantly turnished and peculiarly well located. The new dining-room is a thing of beauty and looks inviting to the hungry soul, even without a dish of food on any table. The water works commissioner, Mr. P. E. Braswell, treated us this afternoon to an exhibition of the possibilities of the water supply. A hose, fifty feet long, was attached to the hydrant in front or the court house and a stream was thrown sixty feet high. And this was done with only fifteen inches of water in the reserfeet is obtained, what may we not expect? HENDERSONVILLE.

Commencement Exercises.

RICHVILLE, May 11, 1890.
The annual commencement exercises of Vaughan academy were held Friday evening and reflected much credit on the efficient teacher, Miss Hettie McCamp-bell. The hall was more than comfort-This temple is subject to no such pro-cess and no decay. The walls will last plause showed that those present appre-forever. This will be a habitation of cated the efforts of the scholars. The foliation and dialogues, interspersed with a use this morning to study the truths number of vocal pieces. This of this temple. The first is that the school has been in continuous session for foundation is the prophets and the me months and the results obtained have been quite satisfactory.

Still Another Addition.

The Battery Park hotel is to be made still larger. Architects are now engaged in planning for a 150 room addition, to be built over the rear part of the building. The cost of the work will be forty or fifty thousand dollars. The building is to be completed by the opening of next winter's season. This addition is rendered necessary by the increasing crowds that come to Asheville, a large number of whom were compelled to leave during the past season on account of the insuffiaside. These do not follow human tradi- ciency of the hotel accommodations. There is no question about its being a success financially.

The Mayor's Court.

Cal Johnson was found drunk on the streets vesterday and run in the calaboose. While there he discovered a hole in the ceiling that led to the roof and a few minutes later he sat with his feet braced against a chimney and entertaining a crowd of interested spectators. For fully fifteen minutes he addressed himself to his audience and finally officers Hunter and McDowell went up after him morning he was before the court and was man was fined $5 for drunkenness.
